

ANDREW H. GREEN MURDERED!

WILLIAMS, THE MURDERER OF ANDREW H. GREEN, HIS VICTIM'S HOME AND DOORWAY IN WHICH HE WAS SHOT DOWNSHOT DOWN AT HIS HOME BY A CRAZED NEGRO

"Father of Greater New York" Was About to Enter His Doorway when the Assassin, Who Was Lying in Wait for Him, Attacked Him and Fired Several Shots, Killing Him.

THE MURDERER IS SPEEDILY
CAPTURED BY THE POLICE.

Tells a Rambling Story of a Fancied Grievance that He Says Impelled Him to Commit the Crime—Appears to Be Perfectly Sane on All Other Points—How the Tragedy Was Enacted.

Andrew H. Green, "Father of Greater New York," was shot and killed in the basement area of his residence, No. 91 Park avenue this afternoon, by Cornelius Williams, a negro.

Five shots were fired, all of which took effect. The last two shots entered the body of Mr. Green as he was lying in his doorway. He died in a few moments.

The negro was captured. He made no resistance. At the East Thirty-fifth street station he told a rambling story of fancied grievances which led to the belief that he is of unbalanced mind. He says he is glad that he did the shooting and that his reasons will be revealed at the proper time.

LAY IN WAIT AT HIS HOME.

The home of Mr. Green is near Thirty-ninth street. He had lived there for many years. It was his custom to walk across town through Thirty-eighth or Thirty-ninth street in the afternoon after riding up Sixth avenue or Third avenue from business. Evidently the negro knew of this, because he was stationed in front of the house at the hour when Mr. Green usually arrived.

Policeman Haughlin, of the East Thirty-fifth street station was walking up Park avenue as Mr. Green approached his home. He heard the shots and rushed over.

MURDERER GLAD OF HIS DEED.

"I'm the man who shot him," said Williams. "I'm not sorry for it either. I came over here to shoot him if I couldn't get satisfaction. I'll tell why I shot him when the proper time comes."

The revolver was taken from him and he was hustled down to the station-house in East Thirty-fifth street. The sound of the revolver shots had aroused the neighborhood. A tremendous crowd gathered in the street and the news that Mr. Green had been shot spread quickly through the neighborhood.

Mr. Green lived with his brother and two nieces. One of the nieces was at home when the shooting occurred. She heard the sound of the shots. She ran out to the stoop and placed the head of her uncle in her lap, screaming and crying.

An ambulance was soon on the scene, and the niece was taken back into the house. The ambulance surgeon made an examination and found that the aged victim of the shooting had already expired.

APPEARED TO BE RATIONAL HITHERTO.

Williams is above medium height. He looks to be about forty-five years old and wears a mustache and side whiskers. He has been employed for the past four or five years by Dr. Edward D. Fisher, of No. 19 West Fifty-second street, taking care of the furnace, sweeping the office and acting as handy man generally. It was said this afternoon at the residence of Dr. Fisher that the negro always appeared to be rational and quiet.

When Williams got to the station-house he was informed by the sergeant that he need not give an account of the crime unless he desired to do so, as anything he might say could be used against him. The prisoner insisted that he wanted to make a statement. He said he did not care whether he lived or not.

NEGRO BLAMES WOMAN FOR TROUBLE.

He went on to say that a negro woman named Bessie Davis had slandered him and that he had consulted lawyers with view of bringing a suit against her. Among the lawyers he mentioned were Mr. Cantwell, of the firm of Cantwell & Moore, and Abe Kaffenburgh, of the firm of Howe & Hummel.

The Davis woman, according to Williams, managed to keep out of his way. A short time ago, he says, she sent word to him that he would be foolish to bring any suit against her, that Andrew H. Green would put up money for her defense.

"I had never seen Mr. Green," said Williams, "but I thought that he

EXPLORERS FROM NEW YORK PERISH

Members of the Expedition, Led by
Leonidas Hubbard, Jr., of This City,
Who Started for the Interior of Labrador, Believed to Be Dead.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 13.—The mail steamer which has just returned here from Labrador brings no news of the expedition to explore the interior of Labrador, headed by Leonidas Hubbard, Jr., of New York.

The steamer inquired along the coast for news. The general belief of the settlers was that the party had perished.

A tribe of Montagnais Indians which had penetrated Labrador 150 miles from the coast in trapping for furs, had just returned to the mail ship's port when it reached there, and they reported that they heard or saw nothing of the New York expedition.

The settlers along the coast and inland reported to the mail ship's officers that it was their belief that every member of the expedition had perished, although no trace of their effects was found.

Mr. Hubbard, accompanied by his wife, a Cree Indian guide and a photographer, left Rigolette, Labrador, for the interior on Aug. 1. Mrs. Hubbard accompanied him as long as the weather was favorable, but returned to the coast in September.

It was Mr. Hubbard's intention to penetrate to the settlement of Neascaupies Indians, where, so far as known, no white man has ever been.

The expenses of the expedition were met by Casper Whitney, of this city, who desired to secure the information and pictures for his publication, "Outing."

On Nov. 2 it was reported from Labrador that the expedition was probably lost and that the members might perish. At that time it was announced that a relief expedition would be started from Quebec and that if nothing was heard from that another expedition would be started by Mr. Whitney for the interior over a different route.

The expedition included, besides Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard, Dillon Wallace, a lawyer, of New York, who went as a photographer, and the Cree Indian, known simply as George.

DIVED TO DEATH IN TOMBS PRISON

James A. Schmidt, Awaiting
Trial for Grand Larceny,
Plunged Over the Balcony
Railing of Third Tier.

James A. Schmidt, fifty-one years old, a prisoner in the Tombs, committed suicide this afternoon, leaping over the railing of the third tier of cells and crushing his skull on the floor below. Schmidt, who lived at No. 284 Madison avenue, had been committed to the Tombs to await trial on a charge of grand larceny. He was assigned to a cell on the third tier.

He was exercising there this afternoon with other prisoners when he was seen to stop suddenly in his walk up and down the long steel shelf which served as a platform in front of and connecting the various cells on that tier.

Catching the iron rail a moment he climbed over it and before he could be checked he had dived down, head first, to the cement floor thirty feet below and amid many other prisoners who were promenading from the first tier cells.

Schmidt was carried to the prison hospital, but he was dead, his skull having been crushed. Since his arrival in the prison Schmidt had been morose and had communicated with none of the other prisoners.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

PANIC AS CARS CRASH IN BOWERY

A Fourth avenue car plunged into a Third avenue car on the sharp angle at the Broome street turn into the Bowery late this afternoon. The Third avenue car was derailed and nearly tipped over by the impact. Both cars were filled with passengers, who were thrown out of the seats.

There was a wild panic of screaming women and struggling men, but no one was seriously hurt. The Fourth avenue car went on its way, but the job of getting the derailed car back was a long and difficult one, blocking traffic half an hour.

BATTLED WITH POLICE ON WAY TO INSANE WARD.
James Matthews, forty years old, of No. 2094 Lexington avenue was removed from the Harlem Court to-day to Bellevue Hospital and placed in the insane ward. He told Magistrate Zeller that he wanted a warrant for everybody in his house, as everybody there, he declared, was conspiring to take his life.

The Magistrate saw that he was apparently unbalanced and ordered him sent to Bellevue. It took four policemen to get him into the patrol wagon, and even then he fought and struggled with them all the way to the hospital.
